GOSPEL MEDITATION

“Then he said to Thomas, ‘Put your finger here and see my hands, and bring your hand and put it into my side, and do not be unbelieving, but believe.’” (John 20:27)

In my early 20s, I volunteered at a parish youth group. I witnessed teens encountering Jesus with a fresh, romantic wonder that reminded me of my own teenage conversion. But something had changed in me. I was quietly jaded and cynical. When teens shared stories of encountering Christ, I’d want to sarcastically murmur, “Well, good for you.” I had grown suspicious of the zeal I once knew.

Then we brought the group on a pilgrimage. I was standing in an old church in France, ignoring a long-winded tour guide. I found myself before a crucifix. In that moment, I heard something, not audibly, but unmistakably in my heart: “I came to be your friend... and you wish to be my enemy? Why do you stand far from me? I suffer gladly for you. I was pierced for you. Why do you run from me?” My heart opened. I saw how cold and cynical I had become. But Jesus had not given up on me. He had returned, and his mercy broke through.

So I can relate to the scoffing and transformation of Thomas when the Risen Jesus presents his wounds for inspection. Thomas is not simply doubting; he is guarded, suspicious, even cynical. But Jesus comes to him. No lecture. Just understanding and mercy. He invites Thomas to touch his wounds. This burns away his cynicism like the morning mist.

Divine Mercy Challenge: This week, rejoice with someone who is newly alive in faith. If your own heart has grown skeptical or tired, ask Jesus to help you. He will.

LAST CHANCE—BIBLE STUDY AT OLA

Mondays: May 4, 11, & 18, and June 1 & 8 at 7pm in the Lower Hall

As Catholics, we believe the end of this life isn't the end of the story: it's just the beginning. Life Everlasting: Heaven, Hell, Death, and Judgement explores the teachings about what truly awaits us after this life. Through the lens of Scripture, the Catechism, and the timeless wisdom of the Church, this mini-study will help you uncover how these truths aren't meant to fill us with fear, but should give us great HOPE! Through this group Bible Study course, you will have the opportunity to grow closer to God as you learn about the life to come. It will show us how our lives have meaning and purpose beyond what we see in the present moment. This is your last chance to register & pay the $25 (registration deadline is April 13) using the flier in the vestibule.
